

Prussia Gate

Subscribe

Sign in

Prince of Orange, Germany and World Domination

Will Zoll

Nov 5, 2021

Prince of Orange, Germany and world domination

The House of Hohenzollern seems to be an old title, relegated to the history books. Would it surprise you to learn that the head of this House still have claim to the title, Prince of Orange? They still style themselves as the Prince of Prussia or Prince of Orange, despite suggesting Prussia has been relegated to history. The status of such nobility remains unknown; however, they have not ceased to exist. Meet the current Prince of Prussia.

Georg Friedrich

Prince of Prussia

Georg Friedrich (2014)

Head of the House of Hohenzollern

Tenure	26 September 1994 – present
Predecessor	Louis Ferdinand
Heir apparent	Carl Friedrich

Born	10 June 1976 (age 45) Bremen, West Germany
Spouse	Princess Sophie of Isenburg (m. 2011)
Issue	Carl Friedrich, Hereditary Prince of Prussia Prince Louis Ferdinand Princess Emma Marie Prince Heinrich

House of Hohenzollern

Since the death of William II in 1918, last reigning king and emperor and thereafter head of the House of Hohenzollern, he was succeeded by:

- 1918–1918: Wilhelm, German Crown Prince
- 1918–1951: Louis Ferdinand, Prince of Prussia
- 1951–present: Prince George Frederick
- heir presumptive : Prince Christian-Sigismund of Prussia

The head of the house is the titular King of Prussia and German Empire. He also bears a historical claim to the title of prince of Orange. Members of this line style themselves princes of Prussia.

Source: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Georg\_Friedrich,\_Prince\_of\_Prussia

Recall that Prussia is an “army without a state”. These Houses have incredible influence in the regions they occupy or influence. In the same vein as Caesar in the Roman Empire, the head of Prussia was known as the Kaiser. Whatever authority these Houses had, we can observe that they were politically, very sensitive. The Kings and Queens of the day were very careful in their connections. Notice the connection below between the House of Hohenzollern and the House of Doorn.

Wilhelm II's stay in the Netherlands was politically very sensitive, therefore Queen Wilhelmina never visited him personally. However, her husband Prince Hendrik of Mecklenburg-Schwerin did make occasional visits to House Doorn and, from 1918, he regularly travelled to Germany to enquire about the possible return of the Kaiser to his fatherland. The Queen Mother Emma von Waldeck Pymont (Wilhelmina's mother), also visited the Emperor regularly in Doorn, as did Juliana (then Princess) and her husband Prince Bernhard of Lippe-Biesterfeld.

Source: <https://www.huisdoorn.nl/en/wilhelm-ii/the-hohenzollern-dynasty/hohenzollern-and-orange-family/>

These 1918 connections from Queen Wilhelmina's husband to the Kaiser show the pattern of this global monarchy.

Some even believe that Kaiser was the primary WW1 inciter, and that he got away with it and was offered refuge by the Dutch queen Wilhelmina, in the House of Doorn. The dates and patterns around the Prussian strategies of infiltration and invasion show that these accusations having merit. Simon Oak went as far as writing a song about it:

<https://www.simonoak.nl/2018/04/the-house-of-doorn/>

▲ National Kaiser Wilhelm monument standing at the Schlossfreiheit, Berlin, circa 1900. Photograph: ullstein bild/Getty Images

Below is an article that chronicles the events around the Kaiser's crowning on 18 January 1871.

From the archive blog
Germany

Wilhelm of Prussia proclaimed the first German emperor - archive, 1871

On 18 January 1871, Friedrich Wilhelm I of Hohenzollern was crowned as the first emperor of a united Germany in Versailles. See how the Guardian reported events

compiled by Richard Nelsson

Wed 13 Jan 2021 22.50 EDT

▲ Anton von Werner painting of the the crowning of Wilhelm I to emperor of Germany in Versailles, 18 January 1871. Photograph: Interfoto/Alamy

Source: <https://www.theguardian.com/world/from-the-archive-blog/2021/jan/13/wilhelm-of-prussia-proclaimed-the-first-german-emperor-1871>

What is incredible, is that this article celebrating the crowing of the Prince of Prussia as the first German Emperor was published exactly one week after January 6 and exactly one week before the US Presidential Inauguration day in 2020. Was a crowning taking place, that had nothing to do with the will of the people?

Notice that one month after Wilhelm's crowning, the US Congress passed the Act of 1871 on February 21, which established the District of Columbia as a Corporation.

Source: <https://www.federaljack.com/slavery-by-consent-the-united-states-corporation/>

The authority behind the Kingdom of Prussia had created a highly-sophisticated corporate structure that would allow it to "occupy" the entire earth. It would implement this in the period from 1871 - 1917. WW1 would provide the necessary distraction for the associated corporate banking systems to be inserted into key nations.

Corporations are corpses; they are not living entities. Whether big or small, they have a hidden hand who controls them. In many cases, that hand is us, as we run our business. But globally, there is a much larger hidden hand who controls the Federal Reserve banking system, the World Bank, the World Health Organization and the United Nations. This invisible hand uses debt to control the nations. Who are these authorities?

Lets start with the German Emperor in 1871 and explore the flow of power that would become world oppression.

German Emperor

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

This article is about the emperors of the German Empire. For a full list of German monarchs before 1871, see List of German monarchs.

The German Emperor (German: Deutscher Kaiser [ˈdɔʏtʃə ˈkaɪzɐ]) was the official title of the head of state and hereditary ruler of the German Empire. A specifically chosen term, it was introduced with the 1 January 1871 constitution and lasted until the official abdication of Wilhelm II on 28 November 1918.<sup>[1]</sup> The Holy Roman Emperor is sometimes also called "German Emperor" when the historical context is clear, as derived from the Holy Roman Empire's official name of "Holy Roman Empire of the German Nation" from 1512.

Following the revolution of 1918, the head of state was the president of the Reich (German: Reichspräsident), beginning with Friedrich Ebert.

Contents [hide]
1	German Empire (1848–49)
2	Creation
3	Full titles
3.1	Wilhelm I
3.2	Frederick III
3.3	Wilhelm II
4	German Emperors (1871–1918)
5	See also
6	References
6.1	Citations
6.2	Bibliography
7	External links

German Emperor

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

This article is about the emperors of the German Empire. For a full list of German monarchs before 1871, see List of German monarchs

The German Emperor (German: Deutscher Kaiser [ˈdɔʏtʃə ˈkaɪzɐ]) was the official title of the head of state and hereditary ruler of the German Empire. A specifically chosen term, it was introduced with the 1 January 1871 constitution and lasted until the official abdication of Wilhelm II on 28 November 1918.<sup>[1]</sup> The Holy Roman Emperor is sometimes also called "German Emperor" when the historical context is clear, as derived from the Holy Roman Empire's official name of "Holy Roman Empire of the German Nation" from 1512. Following the revolution of 1918, the head of state was the president of the Reich, beginning with Friedrich Ebert.

Hereditary monarchy is a form of government and succession of power in which the throne passes from one member of a ruling family to another member of the same family. A series of rulers from the same family would constitute a dynasty.

German Emperor

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

This article is about the emperors of the German Empire. For a full list of German monarchs before 1871, see List of German monarchs.

The German Emperor (German: Deutscher Kaiser [ˈdɔʏtʃə ˈkaɪzɐ]) was the official title of the head of state and hereditary ruler of the German Empire. A specifically chosen term, it was introduced with the 1 January 1871 constitution and lasted until the official abdication of Wilhelm II on 28 November 1918.<sup>[1]</sup> The Holy Roman Emperor is sometimes also called "German Emperor" when the historical context is clear, as derived from the Holy Roman Empire's official name of "Holy Roman Empire of the German Nation" from 1512.

Following the revolution of 1918, the head of state was the president of the Reich (German: Reichspräsident), beginning with Friedrich Ebert.

1	German Emperor
2	Creation
3	Full title
3.1	V
3.2	F
3.3	V
4	German Emperor
5	See also
6	References
6.1	Citations
6.2	Bibliography

The Reichspräsident was the German head of state under the Weimar constitution, which was officially in force from 1919 to 1945. In English he was usually simply referred to as the President of Germany.

Emperor of the German Empire
Deutscher Kaiser

IMPERIAL

Imperial coat of arms

Photo: Look at the symbols on Italy's Mussolini and Germany's Hitler.

Europe was all owned by same invisible hand. The great army of Prussia had a simple playbook: Infiltrate, elevate, militarize, tax, collapse and then govern over the long-term with a debt-based banking system. In this process, all freedom-loving patriots were essentially defeated by their own wives and children, as the need for new money and government assistance was essential for their very survival. Anyone who didn't support the "build back better" narrative was considered an idiot, when so much new money was available to rebuild.

So, the Prussians had a hereditary Prince from a long-ruling family, now ruling the German State and appearing as the German President. Is this a democracy controlled by the people, or a Monarchy?

Is this is why they can steal elections, because they appoint their Emperors? Where did the Prussians go after 1945? Were the two world wars just massive distractions?

Kingdom of Prussia

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

The Kingdom of Prussia (German: Königreich Preußen) was a German kingdom that constituted the state of Prussia between 1701 and 1918.<sup>[4]</sup> It was the driving force behind the unification of Germany in 1871 and was the leading state of the German Empire until its dissolution in 1918.<sup>[4]</sup> Although it took its name from the region called Prussia, it was based in the Margraviate of Brandenburg. Its capital was Berlin.<sup>[5]</sup>

Prussia is considered the legal predecessor of the unified German Reich (1871–1945) and as such a direct ancestor of today's Federal Republic of Germany.<sup>[4]</sup> The formal abolition of Prussia, carried out on 25 February 1947 by the Allied Control Council referred to a tradition of the kingdom as a bearer of militarism and reaction, and made way for the current setup of the German states. However, the Free State of Prussia (Freistaat Preußen), which followed the abolition of the Kingdom of Prussia in the aftermath of World War I, was a major democratic force in Weimar Germany until the nationalist coup of 1932 known as the Preußenschlag.<sup>[citation needed]</sup> The Kingdom left a significant cultural legacy, today notably promoted by the Prussian Cultural Heritage Foundation (Stiftung Preußischer Kulturbesitz (SPK)), which has become one of the largest cultural organisations in the world.<sup>[13]</sup>

Allied Control Council

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

This article's lead section may be too short to adequately summarize the key points. Please provide an accessible overview of all important aspects of the article. (May 2019)

The Allied Control Council or Allied Control Authority (German: Alliiertes Kontrollirat) and also referred to as the Four Powers (Vier Mächte), was the governing body of the Allied Occupation Zones in Germany and Allied-occupied Austria after the end of World War II. Members were the Soviet Union, the United Kingdom, the United States and France. The organisation was based in Berlin-Schöneberg. The council was convened to determine several plans for postwar Europe, including how to change borders and transfer populations in Eastern Europe and Germany. As the four Allied Powers had joined themselves into a condominium asserting supreme power in Germany, the Allied Control Council was constituted the sole legal sovereign authority for Germany as a whole, replacing the extinct civil government of Nazi Germany.

Kammergericht, Berlin, 1945–1990 Headquarters of the Allied Control Council. View from the Kleistpark

Condominium (international law)

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

"Joint sovereignty" redirects here. For joint sovereigns, see Coregency. "Co-dominium" redirects here. For the series of books, see CoDominium. For other uses, see Condominium (disambiguation).

A condominium (plural either condominia, as in Latin, or condominiums) in international law is a political territory (state or border area) in or over which multiple sovereign powers formally agree to share equal dominium (in the sense of sovereignty) and exercise their rights jointly, without dividing it into "national" zones.

Although a condominium has always been recognized as a theoretical possibility, condominiums have been rare in practice. A major problem, and the reason so few have existed, is the difficulty of ensuring co-operation between the sovereign powers; once the understanding fails, the status is likely to become untenable.

The word is recorded in English since c. 1714, from Modern Latin, apparently coined in Germany c. 1700 from Latin com- "together" + dominium "right of ownership" (compare domain). A condominium of three sovereign powers is sometimes called a tripartite condominium or tridominium.

Germany remained under nominal military occupation until 15 March 1991, when the final ratification of the Treaty on the Final Settlement With Respect to Germany (signed on 12 September 1990) was lodged with the German Government. This, as the final peace treaty signed by the four powers and the two German governments, formally restored full sovereignty to a reunified Germany. It also meant the official end of the Allied Control Council.

Germany, literally lays out the prototype for how the Prussians would go about achieving world domination. Four Powers created a framework for many world-wide alliances, which were really just military-coalitions, that effective would become the United Nations. Notice how Germany gained its “sovereignty” in March of 1991 and the Maastricht Treaty was signed on 7 February 1992 that was the foundation treaty for the European Union.

Recall, the Prussian ideology does not own nations; it a belligerent occupier. Consistently, through history, its belligerent occupation earned it the right to tax the people. This was the pathway to their desired New World Order.

Condominiums were a way for the unelected monarchs to create the UN to control (and profit from) trade between sovereign nations. These condominiums (treaties and charters) in the mid-1900s exactly reflect the Zollverein treaties of the mid-1800s which was a coalition of German states to manage tariffs. Arnold H. Price records that, “The foundation of the Zollverein was the first instance in history in which independent states consummated a full economic union without the simultaneous creation of a political federation or union.” The UN is a world wide version of these treaties.

Source plus other links: <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Zollverein>

The Zollverein Treaties served as a ‘road test’ for what the Prussian ideology would impose upon the entire earth one century later, via UN treaties, NGOs and a centralized banking system. This invisible ideological hand had to become more-concealed in order to occupy nations, but it also had to become more-gentle. You see. the horrific attacks the Prussian army waged in the middle ages were no longer palatable for humanity, who was maturing beyond such behavior.

In addition to trade control, these treaties and charters would also create world-wide surveillance capabilities. They appear safe, however we are learning that they are easily weaponized. Notice that the Five Eyes surveillance agreement started in August 1941, right in the middle of WW2, as part of the Atlantic Charter.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Atlantic\_Charter

As is the Prussian way, these initiatives all appear to bring new freedoms and opportunity, and they did. However the invisible hand of control was also strengthening its grip on the world. As one example, the Atlantic Charter of 1941 and the North Atlantic Treaty of 1949 would eventually evolve into what we know as North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). NATO is now an intergovernmental military alliance of 28 nations. It is a legal entity.

An intergovernmental organization (IGO) is an organization composed primarily of sovereign states (referred to as member states), or of other organizations through formal treaties for handling/serving common interests and governed by international laws.<sup>[1]</sup> IGOs are established by a treaty that acts as a charter creating the group. Treaties are formed when lawful representatives (governments) of several states go through a ratification process, providing the IGO with an international legal personality. Intergovernmental organizations are an important aspect of public international law.

Those who control the governments of the world have been crafting their very subtle international laws. Let me introduce you to “Great Power”, which is a sovereign state, which is defined as:

A sovereign state is a political entity that is represented by one centralized government that has sovereignty over a geographic area. International law defines sovereign states as having a permanent population, defined territory, one government and the capacity to enter into relations with other sovereign states

Great power

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

A great power is a sovereign state that is recognized, as having the ability and expertise to exert its influence on a global scale. Great powers characteristically possess military and economic strength, as well as diplomatic and soft power influence, which may cause middle or small powers to consider the great powers' opinions before taking actions of their own. International relations theorists have posited that great power status can be characterized into power capabilities, spatial aspects, and status dimensions.<sup>[2]</sup>

While some nations are widely considered to be great powers, there is no definitive list of them. Sometimes the status of great powers is formally recognized in conferences such as the Congress of Vienna<sup>[1][3][4]</sup> or the United Nations Security Council.<sup>[1][5][6]</sup> Accordingly, the status of great powers has also been formally and informally recognized in forums such as the Group of Seven (G7).<sup>[7][8][9][10]</sup>

The term "great power" was first used to represent the most important powers in Europe during the post-Napoleonic era. The "Great Powers" constituted the "Concert of Europe" and claimed the right to joint enforcement of the postwar treaties.<sup>[11]</sup> The formalization of the division between small powers<sup>[12]</sup> and great powers came about with the signing of the Treaty of Chaumont in 1814. Since then, the international balance of power has shifted numerous times, most dramatically during World War I and World War II. In literature, alternative terms for great power are often world power<sup>[13]</sup> or major power.<sup>[14]</sup>

Great powers are recognized in an international structure such as the United Nations Security Council.<sup>[1]</sup>

Source: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Great\_power

People look to individual nations as the potential enemy, however the real enemy is not another country; it is a global monarchy that rules over humanity. Thinking in terms of individual countries allows for the deception.

The Prussian model must be thoroughly examined to understand the true captivity that humanity is enslaved within. Prussia would violently crush a foreign nation, feign defeat in a previously controlled area, change their name and fade away into history. The horrible truth is that the people within the country that just had a military victory are willingly controlled by its government, now run by its new victorious leaders. Feeling like they are moving towards a new era, this compliant population support the killing of all dissidents, as they move into their new power. But the victory is an elaborate illusion, as they are really occupied by a nasty military force that will eventually allow for their own defeat, leaving the nation in ruin. Appearing to have lost, this evil invisible hand has a new host and is off planning its next battles, under the guise of a new national power.

We can now see that this Prussian Empire is the same “force” that morphed itself into a new invisible army between 1871 and 1917. Essentially, this invisible hand became an elaborate series of corporations that would place the entire world into financial-slavery and control via Treaties/ Charters/ Great Powers, Non-Government Organizations (NGOs) and global entities such as W.H.O., World Bank, E.U., NATO, Council on Foreign Relations etc.

The Prussian army went global and in doing so, it became invisible. To truly seize control of the earth, Prussian ideology would need to become owned by the people. It would need to be a powerful idea. Here is Bush Snr (#41) on September 11, 1991 talking about this New World Order “big idea” that will “fulfil the promise and vision of the UN’s founders:

George Bush New World Order 11 september 1990

WWI was the smoke screen to set it all up and WWII would seal the deal. To achieve its ultimate transition into a New World Order, it would need to infiltrate every major nation on earth and control their Intelligence Agencies. The UK Crown would be selected one of the main vehicle that the Prussians would use, however the Muslim Brotherhood and Saudi Arabia would play an equally significant role in the infiltration. The infiltration would be done during the distraction of world wars and the associated economic hardship.

Consider that there is no world war taking place. No nation is waging war on another nation. There are no significant civil wars taking place.

We are in a global war for the mind of humanity. The prize is the right for eternal taxation and control over the will of humanity. This war is against the Prussian ideology. The playbook has not changed for centuries.

The Prussian way is to kill or be killed. They will either conquer humanity or they will be obliterated forever. This is a zero-sum game being played over the right to control humanity in perpetuity.

Only once you see your enemy, can you defeat it. This particularly enemy is an idea or an ideology, which means it is invisible. The enemy is a mental-construct; it is a mind-virus.

Subscribe to Prussia Gate

By Will Zoll · Launched 3 months ago

An invisible hand sits behind humanity, exerting control over the human will. This hidden virus scours the earth, looking for hosts who will adopt its ideology, and wage war against dissenters. You cannot leave a captivity that you cannot see.

♡ 7

💬 9

➦ Share

Write a comment...

Peace is the Prize Jan 12

Did you know that there is a census-designated place in Upper Merion Township, Montgomery County, PENNSYLVANIA, United States named King of Prussia? The community took its unusual name in the 18th century from a local tavern named the King of Prussia Inn, which was named after King Frederick the Great of Prussia. Like the rest of Montgomery County, King of Prussia continues to experience rapid development. One of the largest shopping malls in the United States, King of Prussia, is located here. Also located here is the headquarters of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission Region I. King of Prussia is considered to be an edge city of Philadelphia, consisting of large amounts of retail and office space situated at the convergence of four highways. Interesting.

♡ Reply

Tammrae Writes Don't Take the Mark · Jan 9

Very much enjoying your series. My interest in smallpox crossed paths with your interest in Prussians this evening, and I thought you might be interested to know that the Prussian Army were early adopters of compulsory smallpox vaccination.

Reference: Charles Creighton, "A History of Epidemics in Britain," vol. II, p. 612

<https://naturalimmunityblog.wordpress.com/tag/did-smallpox-vaccine-really-save-us/>

♡ Reply

7 more comments...

Ready for more?

Subscribe

© 2022 Will Zoll. See privacy, terms and information collection notice

Publish on Substack

Prussia Gate is on Substack – the place for independent writing